Suzy presents...

ETHICAL SUPERVISION REFLECTIONS USING CHILDREN'S TV CHARACTERS LARGELY MADE FROM FELT!

I grabbed myself a float,
and set about wondering...

ETHICAL PRINCIPLES PERSIST, EVEN WHEN THE SUPERVISION CHANGES

Ethics in the Normative function
Ethics in the Formative function
Ethics in the Restorative function

LEAD WITH CURIOSITY

ethical sensitivity

THE WHY BIRD

Why does this feel uncomfortable?

Why do I want to rush through this?

Why are they seeing something different to me?

Why are they using these professional standards?

Why is it hard?

SOME THINGS CAN FEEL HARDER TO FACE

THE TRAP DOOR

LOOKING AT THE IMMEDIATE PICTURE ISN'T THE FULL STORY

EXPECTATIONS MAY NOT MATCH REALITY, IN THE BEST WAY

AKA IF IT LOOKS LIKE A DUCK AND QUACKS LIKE A DUCK, CAN IT BE A VAMPIRE?

IT CAN...

BUT!!

...NOT IF IT'S MADE WITH KETCHUP INSTEAD OF BLOOD AND BECOMES A VEGETARIAN!

THERE'S NO ONE RIGHT WAY, EVEN WHEN APPLYING CONSISTENT ETHICAL PRINCIPLES

MADE
"IMPERFECTLY"

THE RAGGY DOLLS

STILL BRILLIANT

WORK
DIFFERENTLY

STILL DOLLS!

AND THERE'S SO MANY MORE.

GATHERING DISCARDED INFO LIKE A WOMBLE...

LOOKING AT A 'BROKEN' OBJECT AND MAKING IT USEABLE, LIKE BAGPUSS.

BUT ME? I'M JUST A FRAGGLE, MAKING SURE MY ATTEMPTS TO HELP THE DOOZERS DON'T CAUSE THEM HARM...
